A MILL JOINING HANDS WITH A PASTA FACTORY

We grind the wheat directly in our mill, guaranteeing freshness and a drastic reduction of the transport's impact on the environment.

A LIGHT CARBON FOOTPRINT

The quantities of carbon dioxide released during the production cycle of our Yellow Label are low, as certified by the international trademark EPD (Environmental Product Declaration), verified by CSQA.

CARBON-OFF/SETTING INITIATIVES

To offset the impact, small as it is, of our company on the environment, we have partnered with Wow Nature to promote the birth of new trees, we have adopted 600 hectares of forest, we have joined the Bosco Limite project, and we collaborate with Blue Valley for the protection of the Venetian lagoon's ecosystem. With ETIFOR, a spin-off of the University of Padua, we have launched a programme that will enable us to become a climate positive company by 2030, i.e. to reach and exceed zero impact and generate an active positive impact on the environment.

100% GREEN ENERGY

Our plants are only powered with energy from renewable sources. Furthermore, we invest in the efficiency of our machinery: in fact, the new technologies make it possible for us to obtain better results while reducing consumption and emissions.

A full and varied line that proposes grains of excellent quality, that are grown, ground, and processed skilfully, for organic pasta that always cooks perfectly and has an amazing flavour. Good Italian spelt of the einkorn and emmer varieties, or in a high-protein-content mix with lentils and quinoa. BIGOLI NOBILI

There are many historical tales about this noble, ancient Veneto pasta shape and size, whose patent dates back to 1603. Profoundly bound with the history of our land, we produce Bigoli Nobili with the same love with which they were brought to the table in centuries past: only the best Italian durum wheats and the utmost care of slow and gentle processing. An effort rewarded by the Accademia Italiana della Cucina that recognised them as being an "excellent product of Italian cuisine".

MINI CUCCIOLI

Jointly with Alcuni Group, a major Italian production company, we have created a line of pasta inspired by the Mini Cuccioli animated TV series, successfully broadcast on Italian Television Network Rai channels, and in 110 countries around the world. Friendship, shared experiences, solidarity, care for the environment: Sgambaro and Mini Cuccioli help teach children the value of good and tasty food.
