

Beijing KESINO Engineering Technology Co., LTD. (KESINO) is a modern high-tech enterprise focusing on the console field, relying on perfect supply chain management, to provide customers with professional customized solutions and after-sales support. The products have been sold to all over the country and overseas projects, and are committed to serving more than 180 industry fields such as public security, smart city, airport, transportation, petrochemical, power, finance, radio and television, communications, government and new energy.

KESINO company covers an area of 130,000 square meters, set up 1200 square meters of large-scale science fiction exhibition hall, has introduced a number of high-precision machining equipment, automatic AMADA laser cutting machine, AMADA CNC turret punch, AMADA CNC bending machine, automatic welding robots and various processing equipment, and the construction of sheet metal spraying workshop and processing workshop.

After years of development, kesino with rich experience in the industry, adhere to good industrial design, the human body engineering, aesthetic, material science, engineering mechanics, such as the multi-discipline knowledge into design and manufacturing, has made a number of patented technology certificates and international standard certification, products passed the national related inspection and European standard, American standard authentication, create a more environmentally friendly, more sense of science and technology products, we will continue to self-perfection, with the most professional manufacture standard system for specifications, to provide customers with more satisfactory service.