

Dubai, United Arab Emirates, 13 - 17 October 2025 - WebHR, a leading cloud-based Human Resource Management Software (HRMS) provider, is set to participate in GITEX Global 2025, the world's largest technology event, taking place in Dubai from 13th October 2025. The company will demonstrate how its all-in-one platform is simplifying and automating the way organizations hire, manage, and empower their workforce.

At GITEX, WebHR will showcase its comprehensive HR solution, designed to help businesses of all sizes streamline their human resource processes, from recruitment and onboarding to payroll, performance management, and employee engagement, all within a single, user-friendly platform.

"We're excited to be part of GITEX Global once again and connect with forward-thinking businesses from around the world." said Zubair Saleem, Business Development Manager at WebHR. "Our goal is to show how modern HR technology can transform traditional processes, boost efficiency, and enable organizations to focus on what matters most, their people."

Visitors to the WebHR booth will have the opportunity to;

- Explore live demos of the platform and its latest features
- Connect with the WebHR team to discuss customized HR solutions
- Discover how automation can reduce manual HR work and increase productivity

Whether you're a startup building your first HR framework or an enterprise looking to modernize workforce management, WebHR's participation at GITEX offers an inside look at the future of human resources technology.
