History of Ceylon tea

Mr. James Taylor

Father of Ceylon Tea

1867, James Taylor, Scottish by origin, planted 19 acres of tea in the city of Kandy in Ceylon, at the Loolecondra Estate which was the first commercial tea plantation.

Stafford Bungalow

1824 First tea plant

A tea plant is brought in from China by the British and planted in the Royal Botanical Gardens as a non-commercial crop.

1884 Stafford Bungalow

Built in 1884, the current Estate Bungalow was the pioneering Scottish tea planter's main bungalow set to take advantage of the best views from the area.

1867 1st Tea Estate

The Loolecondra estate was the first tea plantation estate in Sri Lanka (Ceylon) started in 1867 by Scotsman James Taylor. This 19 acres estate is situated in Kandy and this marked the birth of tea in Sri Lanka.

1873 First tea shipment

The first shipment of Ceylon tea, amounting to 23lb/10kg is made and shipped to London.

Tea workers

Generally two leaves and a bud, are skilfully plucked, usually by women. Sri Lanka is one of the few countries where each tea leaf is picked by hand rather than by mechanization. With experience the women acquire the ability to pluck rapidly and set a daily target of around 15 to 20 kg (33 to 44 lb) of tea leaves.

Ceylon of Yesterday

It was as far back as the year 1824 in which the British Brought a tea plant from China to Ceylon (Sri Lanka was formerly known as Ceylon). It was planted at the Royal Botanical Gardens located in Peradeniya and is considered to have been the first non-commercial tea plant in Sri Lanka.

TEA PACKAGING OPTIONS

PYRAMID TEA BAGS

This style of mesh bag provides the ability to package cut-sift to the whole leaf teas/herbs for ultimate aroma, flavour extraction and leaf/flower infusion. The pyramid tea bag let's you enjoy the perfect cup of tea every time, minus the time and tools needed to make loose leaf tea. In addition, the pyramid tea bag allows tea to move freely and allows greater brewing efficiency.

SINGLE CHAMBER TEA BAGS

Single chamber string allows exposure to the hot waters from two sides.

PILLOW TEA BAGS

Pillow tea bags are crafted using a single chamber design with a flat, sealed structure that allows for quick infusion. The sealed edges ensure no metal staples are needed, preserving the tea's natural taste. Compact and efficient, they deliver a smooth, flavourful brew in every cup.

DOUBLE CHAMBER TEA BAGS

Having two distinctive features: its two chambers and the folding technique used to make it. The two chambers make it easier for water to circulate optimally around the tea, bringing out the full flavour of the tea particles. The folding technique eliminates the need to metal tack the bag which otherwise might have a negative effect on taste.

Types Of Tea

BLACK TEA

Black tea is allowed to wither, which precedes a process called oxidation (sometimes incorrectly referred to as fermentation) during which water evaporates out of the leaf and the leaf absorbs more oxygen from the air. Black teas usually undergo full oxidation, and the results are the characteristic dark brown and black leaf, the typically more robust and pronounced flavours of black teas, and when brewed appropriately, a higher caffeine content compared to other teas.

Oolong tea is allowed to undergo partial oxidation. These teas have a caffeine content between that of green teas and black teas. The flavour of oolong teas is typically not as robust as blacks or as subtle as greens, but has its own extremely fragrant and intriguing tones. Oolongs are often compared to the taste and aroma of fresh flowers or fresh fruit.

OOLONG TEA

GREEN TEA

Green tea is allowed to wither only slightly after being picked. Then the oxidation process is stopped very quickly by firing (rapidly heating) the leaves. Therefore, when brewed at lower temperatures and for less time, green teas tend to have less caffeine. Green teas also tend to produce more subtle flavours with many undertones and accents that are a connoisseurs treasure.

A delicious tea where water has been infused with other fruits – often dried, but sometimes fresh (like mint). There are many benefits of drinking fruit tea as it contains high levels of antioxidants and vitamins. Fruit tea provides a fresh and revitalising beverage and can be served both hot or cold. There is no added sugar, as all the sweetness comes from the natural sugars contained in the fruits. Refreshing and full of flavour they create wonderful aromas too. They are both relaxing and enlivening, depending on the time of day, your mood and your choice of infusion.

FRUIT TEA

CTC

CTC tea actually refers to a method of processing black tea. Named for the process, "crush, tear, curl" (and sometimes called "cut, tear, curl") in which black tea leaves are run through a series of cylindrical rollers. The rollers have hundreds of sharp teeth that crush, tear, and curl the leaves. The rollers produce small, hard pellets made of tea. This CTC method is different from standard tea manufacturing, in which the tea leaves are simply rolled into strips. Tea made via this method is called CTC tea (and sometimes known as masini tea).

HERBAL TEA

Herbal Tea is not officially a tea, as it does not derive from the Camellia sinensis plant, but is instead an infusion or blend of leaves, fruits, bark, roots, or flowers. Herbal teas have been around as long as time, with our ancient ancestors making infusions of the plants, roots, and herbs they saw around them. This practice continues today with the use of herbal teas to support a healthy mind and body. The health benefit of the tea is dependent on the plant, root, or herb being used.

White tea is known to be one of the most delicate tea varieties because it is minimally processed. White tea is harvested before the tea plant's leaves open fully. This is when the young buds are still covered by fine white hairs, hence the name "white" tea. These buds and unfurled leaves from the newest growth on the tea plant are handpicked and then quickly and meticulously dried, so the leaves are not allowed to oxidize as long as leaves plucked for green or black tea production. This minimal processing and low oxidation results in some of the most delicate and freshest tea available.
